Case No 27

BSBs: Val Harris

Charlene McCree

Date: August 21st

Subject Name: Gil Diefenderfer

Subject Place of Employment: NA/Retired

Initial Contact with Client: Sunday, August 19th

Case Synopsis: Gil Diefenderfer approached BSB Charlene McCree in Pie Town re: a missing surfboard. On Saturday, August 18th, he left the board in his garage, which he admits he left open, and left for groceries. On his return, the board was gone. The item is a blue, vintage longboard with a faded red stripe.

Gil suspects Landon Kent of stealing the board. Landon is a rival surfer, who Gil claims has coveted the board.

Note (V): Client did not buy any pie.

Official Reports/Photos/Maps, etc.:

- No police report filed (Gil said he doesn't believe in police). Note (C): Police believe in him!

Note (C): Could be apportation! Ghosts are known to move (i.e. "apport") objects. Fairies also known to shift objects.

Note (V): Too soon to speculate without data.

Monday, August 20th:

10 AM: Visited Gil Diefenderer's home, a mid-century modern ranch with an overgrown yard. Found Gil's wife, Jane, painting cabinet doors in the side yard. Jane stated she could not remember seeing or hearing anything unusual on the Saturday the surfboard disappeared. However, she was busy at the time weeding in the backyard.

Note (C): Suggestive of missing time. UFOs indicated in disappearance?

11 AM: Visited local pawnshop. No surfboard in shop. Owner denied receiving one within last week.

12 PM: Interviewed Landon Kent at Poplar beach. Landon denied taking the board. However, he said he tried to buy it at the church jumble sale on the Saturday of its disappearance. He claimed he was outbid by a young tourist from L.A.

Note (V): All sales go to church?

Note (C): Does thief have a Robin Hood complex?

2 PM: Visited Methodist Church. Pastor Hiller reported that Mrs. Diefenderfer brought in a surfboard matching Gil's description, and it quickly sold. All sales are final.

Synopsis of Final Result:

Jane admitted giving away the surfboard at the church sale. She was tired of Gil escaping to surf whenever she had a home project that needed to be done. Left the couple arguing.

Follow-up Information:

Note (C): Pastor Hiller may be a werewolf. Follow up next full moon.
